

Static vs Dynamic Typed Languages

Below are some interesting links. First few come from Stackoverflow Website that compares static vs dynamic typed languages. They explain what they mean. Pros & cons of both types of languages are also debated.

<http://stackoverflow.com/questions/125367/dynamic-type-languages-versus-static-type-languages>

<http://stackoverflow.com/questions/42934/what-do-people-find-so-appealing-about-dynamic-languages>

<http://stackoverflow.com/questions/1517582/what-is-the-difference-between-statically-typed-and-dynamically-typed-languages>

<http://cmlubinski.info/writings/programming-languages-web-developers/statically-typed-languages/>

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Type\_safety